

Falling is painless

- 4 poems by Carol Batton -

- music by D.W. Solomons -

Moderato

1

Alto

The clocks move to - night. No - thing moves but the 1

Guitar

5

clocks. The Un - i - verse stays the same. Then why does dark - ness drag in ear - ly? Why the days go damp and 10

5

10

16

drea - ry? Like an un-kind re - mark turn - ing beau - ty to hurt, the wind ran-sacks the pink blos-som.

16

19

22

22

19

28

A new tree star-ting out ma-naged the first inch

28

3

33

up (b) and the first inch down; (b) it was not to be the mi-no - ri - ty

33

38

who make ma - tu - ri - ty.

38

43

43

48

48

54

A leaf clings with all it has to the tree: Fall - ing is 54

60

pain - - - - less.

60